Hall Wins Annual Turkey- Day Run and Upsets Dope

Three Hall boys out the old dope bunk and surprised the wide ones by leading Turkey Day in the annual four mile event. Of course the "I told you so" guys are in evidence as usual but the result is a little different than was generally expected. Wakefield was apparently overestimated and seemed slightly off though he would have had to be in to go confidently to lead Hall.

PRESIDENT BRIMHALL'S BIRTHDAY

In keeping with the American custom of celebrating the birthday of the nation, President Brimhall's birthday will be celebrated next Friday with a special dinner.

The permanent idea of the occasion is to make this birthday memorable.

In addition to the celebration that will be given by Professor James L. Barker of the University of Utah, several other parties will be given by students, there will be a book exchange for the Brimhall Library.

President Brimhall has contributed more than any other man of moderate means. He has courageously stood for the right, and he has been a pioneer in the field of animal and human welfare.

the B. Y. C. at Logan. That made us feel pretty good as we struggled up a hill. The unexpected happened; we won our first conference game and the Cowboys were victorious. The enthusiasm of the students, the French trouped the crimson scarlet and took the trophy. The students of the Colorado Aggies and Agnes and Verna were the same old story—we met defeat in both cases. This is our football history for the first year.

You say it looks pretty black? Well, not so black as this year's champions. The most difficult schedule of games. Four of our opponents were ranked among the best in the conference. Finally, in the football was so black that the coach couldn't induce enough men to come out to play the sole line. In a word, we were seldom had a new man to put in the game.

There is one of these facts we have done fine, better than was expected of us. We as a Student Body owe a great deal to our team and coaches for plugging us through our first year so successfully.

There is one other point in the history that has not been mentioned and that is about the decisive victory scored by the students. FOOTBALL HAS COME TO STAY. Since the first kick-off of the year, the students have faithfully attended the games, backed the team, when they won or lost, and learned football. The enthusiasm of the students, the French trouped the crimson scarlet and took the trophy. There is one of these facts we have done fine, better than was expected of us. We as a Student Body owe a great deal to our team and coaches for plugging us through our first year so successfully.

There is one other point in the history that has not been mentioned and that is about the decisive victory scored by the students. FOOTBALL HAS COME TO STAY. Since the first kick-off of the year, the students have faithfully attended the games, backed the team, when they won or lost, and learned football. Hearsay Evidence

I have gained information at random from the ones they call Jones. In the view of St. Paul they know nothing. Jones, wholly deficient in brains, I have read many famous novels, the ones by the author of St. Paul. Who has said quite a lot, but I'm sure I have learned much about women from him.

I have followed the lady in "Main Street" to the very end.

Through all her hysterical life, I've not seen a man.

A person like that for my wife, Bill Shakespeare made some women lovely.

And of them him better and finer; They are dead to forget, but I never see you.

I have learned about women from him.

And now come Ambassador Harvey breaking out in the same of control, And you in a speech that a girl, though a girl.

Has never the sign of a soul, He says she breaks all the commandments.

That her moral ideas are dim, Though she's full of them, but I've not seen a man.

Learned about women from him.

Someone I shall study the problem of women over and over again. But I'll read the words of philosophy.

I'll read the words of philosophy. I'll read the words of philosophy.

That I'm my lifetime have scanned, For I learn that that I'll get the real edge.

I'll learn about women first hand, The Book of the Living.

Here's an advertisement for a wife.

"She must be young, rich and beautiful. I suppose?"

"No, but the requirements are all the same. I've heard that she must be 'under thirty, immune from the measles, and housebroken.'"

"My boy John, says he gets mighty poor food down at college."

"What will he eat?"

"The food of the future, but he says the gasoline is free."

One of the old ideas on record concerns the Swede who was asked by the judge if he was married?

"Where are you married?"

"I married a woman."

"You did? You ever hear of anyone who did not marry a woman?"

"No, my sister. She married a man."

Tommy—Well, I'll be a philosopher. Philanthropy always seems to be thick off.

Portrait of J. Dalton

Portrait of J. Dalton

The Quaker who made Chemistry a Science

AVENDISH had shown that two volumes of hydrogen and one volume of oxygen always combine completely to form water and nothing else. Prout, a Frenchman, had proved that natural and artificial carbonates of copper are always constant in composition.

"There must be some law in this," reasoned Dalton (1766-1844), the Quaker mathematician and school teacher. That law he proceeded to discover by weighing and measuring. He found that each element has a combining weight of its own. To explain this, he evolved his atomic theory—the atoms of each element are all alike in size and weight; hence the properties of compounds are just undiscovered.

In a world of fleeting events the spirit of science and research endures.

polon made his brother, Joseph, king of Spain. This was considered a political event of tremendous importance. But Joseph left no lasting impression, while Dalton, by his discovery, elevated chemistry from a mass of unclassified observations and recipes into a science.

Modern scientists have gone beyond Dalton. They have found the atom to be composed of electrons, minute electrical particles. In the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company much has been done to make this theory practically applicable so that chemists can actually predict the physical, chemical and electrical properties of compounds yet undiscovered.

In a world of fleeting events the spirit of science and research endures.

FORMER STUDENT WRITES FROM MISSOURI FIELD

Following is a letter written by a former student that is now on a mission in New York, Canada, LeRoy Whitfield, chairman of the 1932-33, and is now in 1932, writes:

Editor, Y News.
Dear Brother—
I am writing to you as I write down the words, "Y" and "U" and then when you are so kind to send me the copy of the Y News, I am indeed glad.

You may remember I enjoy hearing of the progress of the "Y" and reading about my old friends. I am now a student here in the city of St. Louis. My life as a missionary has indeed been full of joy. At times I have been told it means to be of service to others. I have learned that to serve others is much greater joy than to have others serve you.

Norman teachers to all, those things that are good, that are uplifting and indeed all that is of God. It is indeed needed out here in the world to bring the children of men closer to their Creator, to teach them that God is good and that He will reward them if they are faithful.

After my mission, my great desire is to enter again the greatest school that I have yet seen, and I have lived with many great officers of the Faith and have become pretty well acquainted with them. Nowhere do I find the democracy of the Brigham Young University, nowhere is there a student body that is so devoted to the Alma Mater and so anxious to do a good work. Nowhere is there a college that teaches for leadership as does the B. Y. U.

I indeed hope for its advancement. I know that it is growing and that those who are at the head are inspired of God and will do all things that are pleasing to Him.

I am your brother and servant.
Elder Le Roy Whitfield.

Fred—How much time did you spend on this lesson?

Fred—One hour railroad time. Post—What do you mean, railroad time?

Fred—One hour, counting stops and delays. —Exchange

Edith—When it comes to marrying I wouldn't give a thought to how much a man was making.

Maud—Neither would I dear. What would primarily interest me would be how much he had already made. There's no use taking chances.

Lilla Jimmy heard pansy purring contentedly behind the stove. "Mamma," he exclaimed excitedly "Pansy is boiling!"

SCHOOL INTERESTS WITH HOOP GAME

With the close of our annual football season, all eyes are turned to the basketball season, basketball in the history of the school has been the most popular sport of the year. It has always been a popular sport, but in the past few years, it has become a more serious game. Some years ago, it was just a game of hoops, but now it is a game of strategy and skill. The basketball team is made up of the best players in the school, and they are always looking for ways to improve. The basketball season is a time of great excitement and interest for the students.

'Chem' Student Has Accident

Mr. Carl Christensen met with a serious accident in the Chemistry Laboratory Wednesday afternoon. He was making a fusion of Potassium hydroxide. Potassium hydroxide was used to assist in the reaction and it caused the explosion. Sand and the potassium hydroxide struck Mr. Christensen on the forehead and eyes. He was thought for a time that he would lose the sight of one eye, but being in the chemistry laboratory work will begin at once to counteract the "flash".

News From the "U"

The first edition of the "Pro" was distributed on the campus yesterday. It has been the aim of the editors of the "Pro" to make a broad sheet of literature within its covers. In order to do this a new department which will be devoted to reviews of new books has been created. These short pieces will also be published.

"Miss Lulu Bert", the annual variety play, will be produced at the Salt Lake Theatre Friday-Saturday-Sunday, December 8th and 9th, with a Saturday matinee. Professor M. E. Balchok reports that the cast is working unusually hard and the play promises to be a finished product. Professor M. E. Balchok is receiving the assistance of Clifton B. Kopp, who is director of last year's play, and Fay Cornwall. Kopp has also played in several variety productions.

FIRST YEAR HISTORY ON GRID COMPLETED

FROM THE ART GALLERY

The decorations for the Springville Agricultural hall Wednesday were designed and arranged by the Art Service Club of the Brigham Young University. The hall was decorated with horns of plenty and the grains of the earth.

Professor E. H. Eastmond gave a talk before the Art Service Club Monday on the "Ancient Beginnings of Art". The lecture was illustrated by stereopticon slides.

Professor B. F. Larson is assisting Professor M. E. Christensen of the University of North Dakota in making a survey of the art conditions in that state. Last winter Professor Larson made a similar survey in connection with the art conditions of the public schools of Utah.
